ZIWI is a global leader in pet food nutrition and innovation.

They produce premium high-meat pet food, crafted from ethically and sustainably sourced ingredients from New Zealand, and gently processed using the latest technology.

ZIWI's mission is to provide peak nutrition without compromise, for a happier and healthier life for all pets.

In recent years, the organization has experienced unprecedented growth and recently opened and acquired additional production facilities in Hawkes Bay.

Day-to-day challenges

Operating ZIWI's manufacturing plants brings a range of safety challenges.

For example, employees frequently use forklifts to move packaging, ingredients, and finished products.

Comprehensive training, traffic management plans and good maintenance are paramount to ensuring safe operation.

ZIWI's rapid year-on-year growth—and the opening of a new facility—made finding a safety management software solution an immediate need.

Life before Evotix

ZIWI found themselves grappling with a host of EHS challenges:

Lacked a safety management solution that could support a substantial amount of data as the organization grew

Needed an efficient, streamlined way to provide and track training

Struggled to encourage hazard, near-miss and incident reporting

Wanted to increase visibility of EHS data across the organization

With a new factory, we're starting with high safety standards. Our goal is to adopt that mindset across the organization. As we grow, we want to have a strong foundation for health and safety.

Life with Evotix

ZIWI was on the hunt for an end-to-end solution that would empower them to offer comprehensive training, incident tracking and safety data analysis.

In implementing Evotix, the organization hoped to see a surge in reporting, increased data visibility and an enhanced ability to record observations.

Kickstarting their Evotix partnership, ZIWI began by implementing the People, Risk and Incident modules.

They have recently added the Behavior, Audit and Contractor Management modules.

The Outcome

Simple Reporting

Before implementing Evotix, Bell says the organization struggled to encourage workers to report incidents, hazards and near misses. Workers had to fill out time-consuming forms and deliver them to supervisors.

But with Evotix's mobile portal, ZIWI has streamlined incident reporting by replacing the tedious process of filling out a physical form and hunting down a supervisor with a simple and efficient digital solution.

Workers can submit reports without having to leave the workplace. The result? A huge surge in the number of reports submitted.

Proactive Checking

Evotix makes regular safety walks throughout the workplace a cinch. On these walks, employees can easily use the app to record hazards and ensure compliance.

This encourages workers to observe and notice risks, so they're more likely to report hazards and near misses.

You have to make it easy for people to submit reports. If they have to go find a form and fill it out, they may not submit anything.

But when they use the app, it's a piece of cake to log their concerns.

Weekly Safety Reporting

ZIWI set up a weekly safety walk that lets workers open a form on their phone and log hazard, incident and near miss data.

Workers walk around to check that hoses aren't on the floor and tests are up-to-date. That has been really useful.

Cross-Organization Visibility

With Evotix, ZIWI has made health and safety data accessible across the organization, using it to generate weekly reports detailing recent hazard, incident and near-miss data.

With this data, the organization can track past incidents and better predict future incidents.

Why Evotix

As ZIWI staff have discovered, Evotix's simple user interface is a game changer for everyone from management to boots-on-the-ground workers.

Implementation, Bell says, has been smoother due to Evotix's consistent support.

"They've offered guidance whenever we needed it," Bell says. "Support-wise, they've been excellent."

It came down to simplicity. [Evotix] simplifies everything – the processes, reporting, all of it. There's no excuse not to report something when it's so easy.
